Instruction HOW TO APPLY

The Russian Government offers annual scholarships for Pakistani citizens to study at Russian institutions. The scholarship is offered for Bachelor's, Master's, PhD degrees and non-degree programs (short term, semester or one year). Most programs are taught in the Russian language.

Scholarship recipients are required to undertake a preparatory course related to their field of study (including language training) for one year before pursuing their degree studies. After passing the one-year preparatory course students can start their degree studies.

The Russian Center for Science and Culture in Karachi is responsible for nominations for this scholarship; however the placement of candidates at institutions is done by the Russian Ministry of Science and Education.

Who can apply?

- Pakistani citizens in good health (medical test will be required for successful applicants);
- Applicants having a strong academic record
- Applicants available to study in Russia from September 2024;
- Applicants who demonstrate interest in Russia and commitment to the development of Pakistan;
- Applications in all fields of study including Medicine will be considered

Degree level

- Diploma
- Bachelor's
- Master's
- PhD
- Non-Degree program

Language of Instruction

MOST programs are taught in the Russian language and a preparatory course related to the field of study (intensive Russian-language course and special set of subjects with required vocabulary) is included in the scholarship. After passing the examinations of the preparatory course students can start their degree studies.

Some Russian higher education institutions may conduct programs in English, but placement in an English-taught program is not guaranteed.

PhD students are recommended to find an English-fluent research supervisor.

Institutions and Programs

Applicants are required to do their own research into available programs, institutions and program-specific entrance criteria. Details on the program can be found on <https://education-in-russia.com>

Applicants are also encouraged to apply directly to their university of choice in Russia. PhD applicants are encouraged to contact their potential supervisors.

Studies must be completed within the duration of the scholarship.

Scholarship Conditions

The Russian Government provides the following:

- All tuition fees
- Accommodation subsidy (shared accommodation only)
- Limited monthly stipend (depending on academic performance)

The Russian Government Scholarship DOES NOT cover:

- Travel costs to/from Russia
- Visa costs and facilitation with the Embassy
- Daily life expenses
- Verification of qualification

How to apply

Candidates are expected to complete an online application form on the website education-in-russia.com

Only applicants who complete this application and upload all necessary documents can be considered for the nomination process and scholarship support.

Applicants must indicate one academic program and up to 6 preferred Russian institutions, based on the list provided at <https://education-in-russia.com>
